Entries for Championship and the Saratoga Tournament.

toga Tournament.

This year the annual polo championship for the first time is to be held away from Prospect Park and to be a private rather than a public tournament free for all to attend. It will be held at the Country Club, Brookline, near Boston, from Sept. 2 to 14. Three teams are entered for the championship and the Astor gold cup, Dedham, Myopia and Lakewood. The second competition for the junior championship and the trophy presented by S. D. Warren of Boston will precede the big event. Under the conditrophy presented by S. D. Warren of Boston will precede the big event. Under the conditions the winning team among the juniors has to play in the big championship. The junior teams must be made up of four players whose aggregate handicap does not exceed twenty. There are three entries, Rocknways, Dedhams and Myopias. The Philadelphia Country Club won the junior event last year, but this time it has not entered a team. Philadelphia, too, will not be represented in the championship, in which Devon made such a plucky fight last year. Meadowbrook has also failed to enter a championship team this year.

plucky fight last year. Meadowbrook has also failed to enter a championship team this year.

The three teams entered represent the pick of American polo players and they own the fastest and most finished popies that the country can produce. The Dedhams will be made up of the same four men who won the championship last year. Allan Fortes. E. M. Weld, W. H. Goodwin and Joshua Crane, Jr. The Myopia team will include two of the players who won the first championship, in 1895, for that club, B. G. Shaw, Z. end R. L. Agas iz, with C. G. Rice, who played on the team last year, and Charles Wheeler, an accession from the Devon, Pt., team. The Lakewood team will be Foxhall Keene, John F. Cowdin, J. M. Waterbury, Jr., and L. NEWPORT, Aug. 15.—The polo game to-day

News of the Wheelmen. BUFFALO, Aug. 15 -Frank L. Kramer of East Orange won the one mile Pan-American circuit championship to-day. In the first East Orange won the one mile Pan-American circuit championship to-day. In the first semi-final he disposed of John T. Fisher of Chicago. Then Iver Lawson beat O. S. Kimble of Louisville and these two came together in the final. Much to the disgust of the big crowd of spectators, they loafed clear to the finish, when Kramer sprinted past Lawson and won by a length. The time was ridiculous. In the half-mile Professional Handicap James B. Bowler of Chicago finished second, but was disqualified for fouling "Major" Taylor and second place was given to the negro. Bowler saw Taylor coming up on his right and jumped his when to the right, forcing Taylor to go clear up the bank. Harry Elkes won the hour race for a purse of $1,000, and Ray Duer of Buffalo beat out Edward Taylore of France for second place. Elkes covered $8 miles 1,680 yards to 35 miles 680 yards for Duer, and 30 miles 710 yards for the Frenchman. While he did not equal his own record of 35 miles 1045 yards. Elkes established new records from the second to mineteenth miles, inclusive. Had he maintained that pace he would have made a new record for the hour. Pirst Round, but Get Wet in Afternoon.

Manchester. Aug. 15.—While the golfers who competed to-day in the match play of the Ekwanok Country Club's second annual open tournament, for the President and Consolation cups, had fair weather for the first round, the winners of the morning were obliged to put up with a good ducking in the afternoon as the threatening clouds made good. It was great sport for the men who had been put out, as they sat on the clubhouse verandas and cracked jokes at their conquerors' expense while they shuffled through the rain.

To the great surprise to those who assembled at the clubhouse during the afternoon to witness the finish, and in fact to follow the progress of the players over the course with their powerful glasses, the best golf that has ever been seen upon the links was played. Two-men lowered the record of the long, sporty course of over 6,000 yards, from 80 to 78. They were Charles Blair Macdonald, Garden City, and T. T. Reid, Montclair. The former made his remarkable record in his match with G. D. Cleghorn of the home club, whom he beat by 4 up and 3 to play. The score was:

The brilliant scoring don' by Reid was in a dual match with W. Austin. Norwich. It was a fierce battle for supremacy. Austin led by 1 up at the turn, going out in 40 to his opponent's 41. They were all even at the eleventh hole, and after halving the next four in par golf Reid won the sixteenth and seventeenth in par to his opponent's bogey and captured the match by 2 up and 1 to play. He also got the home hole in a par four. Their cards were:

The leading attraction of the morning round was the match between T T. Reid and W. H. Davis, whom the golfers have had great sport in twitting about heing the "only high-classed golfer" in the tournament Reid won by 1 up after a most interesting match in the presence of a large "gallery. The remains will be interred in Greenwood Cemetery and Mr. Reynolds will have a handsome monument erected over the grave. Just before sailing, or his trip to Mexico, in hope of regaining his shattered health, Ives gave an exhibition at the Borough Park Club, Brooklyn, and although very feeble, made a run of 103 at the balk-line game. CANDIDATES FOR CHAMPION-SHIP WEEDED OUT.

man's Title Remain - Davis Rallies and Beats Ward in Four Sets - Clothier Defeats Paret In a Very Close Match.

NEWPORT, Aug. 15.—Only nine of the original fifty-six candidates remain to-night in the struggle for the lawn tennis championship, which Whitman's retirement leaves vacant this year. Of the eight matches played at the Casino here this morning, only three were important and this was the first and probably the only off day of the meeting. Davis beat Ward in a clever four-set match, after losing the first set: Larned beat Stevens with little more difficulty than he usually has against the veteran, while Clothier put out Paret after the longest and most exciting match played in the tournament. Each of the played in the tournament. Each of the other winners had an easy adversary and the field has now narrowed down to a battle of the champions, only one weaker man, E. W. Leonard of Harvard, remaining in

The championship court was given over this morning to the Davis-Ward match, which was featured as the star event, and despite the muggy atmosphere and threatening clouds a good sized-crowd of en-thusiasts occupied the grand stand to see the two champions in doubles play against each other. There was a quiet tip circu-lated around among the other players that Ward was very much better than he was thought to be and many of them plunged on his chances against Davis, the prevailing odds being 5 to 3 in favor of the donor of the international challenge trophy.

During the first part of the big match, Ward flattered his backers and it looked as though he was going to win easily. Davis moved around the court barely faster than a walk. It was attributed at first to the uncertain footing caused by the lippery court and Davis's extreme weight, Later it developed that his stomach was troubling him and he came near having to default the match. Before Davis started o play Ward had taken the first set easily and earned a lead of 3-0 in the second set.
When the big Westerner got into playing form, however, he showed a streak of his former brilliancy that made even Ward's best efforts fruitless. In the second set he scored 27 earned points against 13 errors by Ward.

In the third 18 aces against 12 of Ward's In the third is aces against 12 of ward errors and in the fourth 22 points earned against 20 of Ward's errors. These totals taken with his 7 aces in the first set gave Davis a total of 74 aces for the match against 56 points scored by Ward's errors, a mag-nificent record of 57 per cent.earned, which see points scored by Ward's errors, a magnificent record of 57 per cent.earned, which has seldem been equalled. Ward's known ability at safe play contributed heavily to these figures, because Ward made so few errors that Davis had to earn a large proportion of his points in order to win. Ward, our the other hand, earned just 28 per cent, of his points. He was a model of safety play at all points and he forced the play as much as possible against Davis's brilliant speed. He was working on a distinct theory, trying to force Davis into trouble on his backhand side and to get then to the net and kill. But Davis seemed to get out of difficulty very often when he was put there, and more often he kept Ward on the defensive with his deep twisting service and his excellent lobbing.

After Ward had taken a lead of a set and 3—0 Davis started in and ran six straight games. In the third set, Davis again ran away with five straight games after 2—1 had been called in Ward's favor. In the fourth and last set, Davis held the lead from the start, running up the score to 3—0 and 4—1. Then Ward made a fine brace and made the score 4 all, only to loss the next two games through the most brilliant kind of passing from Davis and the set and match were won. Davis will meet Wright to-morrow morning on the championship court.

Of the other two important matches, the Larned-Stevens meeting was soon over. Stevens made a splendid showing in two of the times sets but he was never over. Stevens made a splendid showing in two of the three sets, but he was never quite good enough to win a set. Larned always had enough in reserve to win when he got into trouble, and though Stevens many times seemed to have rosy chances for a set, he never got within a point of it. The play did not differ from their usual meetings. Stevens sticking to the base lipe and his favorite ground strokes, while Larned would hit the bail deep into one corner and then another, till he got his adversary into difficulties, when he would run in and kill the next return with a sharp volley.

The match between Clothier and Paret, his adversary into difficulties, when he would run in and kill the next return with a sharp volley.

The match between Clothier and Paret, respectively the State champions of Pennsylvania and Connecticut, lasted for the full five sets and was still in progress long after the other on the championship courhad been finished. From the start it was a battle between servers and the railies seldom lasted long. At Longwood a few weeks ago Clothier took the first two sets of a match against Larned and forced him a close finish in five sets to win, and on the strength of this brilliant match and Larned's statement that he found it almost impossible to pass Clothier, the Philadelphian wass made a two-one favorite before the match. Paret, however, used a shorter and lower passing stroke than Larned's and after the first set Clothier found it very difficult to volley these low passes without getting them into the et. In the second the New Yorker ran off six straight games in quick succession for a love set. The third was extraordinary because both players kept on running to the net behind their services and yet both were being clean passed continually. In this set the server won only one game in the nine played, that by Clothier being enough to win the set for himself. After the oustomary rest and breathing spell, Paret shifted his tactics in the fourth set, staving back to prevent being passed and still passing Clothier repeatedly when he came up to volley. This plan worked well and the New Yorker had a lead of 5—1 and ultimately took the set by 6—4. In the fifth set Paret mixed it up again the control of the deciding set after having a lead of 4—3.

To-morrow Ware will play Leonard. The Larnard brothers are drawn together and the younger one will scratch to his brother. Little will meet Clothier, and Davis will play Wright. Hobart is to meet the winner of the Davis-Wright match on Saturday, while the Larned vs. Ware semi-final will also be played on Saturday. The finals will be played on Tuesday. The davis heat it was a The match between Clothier and Paret,
